Mattapoisett Selectmen's Meeting

October 18, 1983. by Virginia Arral

CONTRACT WITH SEMASS

Following a joint session with the Board of Health, Selectmen agreed to proceed with a contract with SEMASS to handle the town's rubbish at the proposed waste-to-energy plant to be constructed in Rochester.

A meeting with representatives of SEMASS and the two boards will be set up in the next few weeks to confirm costs in order to be prepared to place an article in the warrant for the town meeting. A town meeting approval is required before the town can enter into a 27-year contract with the treatment plant company.

Daniel C. Lee, chairman of the Board of Health, estimated the town's present landfill is good for 20 years and will have to be used to handle items not acceptable at the treatment plant; items such as tires and refrigerators.

At the present time, the town's trash collection (including salaries, expenses and the contractor) costs approximately $70,000 a year. This cost covers approximately 100 tons per week of rubbish. The present three-year collection contract will run until 1986.

The Board of Health estimated it could cost the town a minimum of $26,613 per year or a maximum of $44,311 per year for the treatment of 60 to 100 tons of trash per week. This cost could be offset, the board noted, by the fact Com Electric has agreed to buy all the electricity that SEMASS can make.

The plant could be open as early as 1986 or as late as 1988, depending on the number of towns under contract. So far, Wareham, Carver, Marion and Rochester have signed with Energy Answers.

In other business, Selectmen:

NAMED Barney Helfand, caretaker at Barlow Cemetery, Genevieve Waterhouse and Richard Waterhouse as interested citizens to serve on the committee formed to oversee the repair and preservation of the gravestones at the Barlow Cemetery.

At a brief organizational meeting held recently, Priscilla Hathaway, representing the Mattapoisett Historical Society, was named chairman. She will contact state officials about permits needed to work in a cemetery. Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta will represent the selectmen's office.

DeCosta noted some of the old cemetery records were lost when a fire in Rochester destroyed records of "old Mattapoisett". He explained that this fire happened just after Mattapoisett separated from Rochester.

DECIDED to contact Fire Chief Paul J. Bradley asking him to hold onto some old helmets rather than sell them to the Fairhaven Civil Defense. Chief Bradley had ask asked the board for its recommendation on disposing of the old helmets. The board felt they should be kept for an emergency.

RECEIVED a letter from Paul Kelley, fire alarm superintendent, in which he reported there has been a problem with the master fire alarm system at the Village Court Elderly Housing Project.

Kelley noted some of the system's operation is not in accordance with Mattapoisett's regulations.

Chairman DeCosta explained there is still a punch list on work that still needs to be corrected. The contractor is working on them now, he added.

RECEIVED WORD from Senator William Q. "Biff" MacLean of a new law, Chapter 407, Acts of 1983, concerning establishments of the Mattapoisett River Valley Water Supply Protection Advisory Council.

DeCosta explained that any new construction being done within certain boundaries should go to this Council so that it can be determined whether it will be detrimental to the water supply. "This is not a governing body", DeCosta said, "but works only in an advisory capacity." A builder

Organizing Against Drugs & Alcohol

THE CHEMICAL PEOPLE PROJECT

The Chemical People project is a national program that invites all concerned citizens to watch two PBS television specials and share ideas about what can be done to help our children say NO to alcohol and drug abuse!

The first of these two programs, Wednesday, November 2, "A Chemical Society", offers hard information about the drug and alcohol problem. Hosted by First Lady Nancy Reagan and other national celebrities, it will seek to convince viewers to accept the problem and organize to solve it rather than hide behind a "wall of denial".

Residents and especially parents of elementary, junior and high school children of Mattapoisett, Marion and Rochester are urged to view part one Wednesday evening, November 2nd, at ORRHS, 7 p.m.

Following this national broadcast, a panel of local experts will talk on drug and alcohol abuse that is present in our own communities, and also answer questions.

This Tri-Town panel consists of: Brian Scott, Marion Chief of Police; Joe Mello, Director of Marion Human Services; Ann

Letter to The Editor

The problems of drug and alcohol use in our society will continue to seriously affect all our lives for a long time to come. It is a convenient attitude to view this situation in terms of whether or not we are directly affected by it. The problem of drugs in society affects each and every one of us and demands all our attention if some solution or set of solutions is to be found.

In education it has been learned that there is no quick or easy answer. Mental health professionals are aware that individual problems in this area tend to be chronic, progressive and most difficult to reverse. Police officials are often frustrated by the difficulties of a society that must still make up its mind as to whether or not drug and alcohol abuse is to be tolerated. There is no quick fix, there is no proven remedy. At this time in history there are only ideas and questions.

On November 2 and November 9 the Public Broadcasting System in conjunction with 36 national organizations such as the Lions Club and Kiwanis International will sponsor two 1 hour broadcasts during prime time. These programs and the efforts associated with them are called "The Chemical People". Each show will deal with developing an awareness of the problems we all share and in particular the incredible prevalence of drug and alcohol use among the most vulnerable natural resource we have, OUR YOUTH.

Having been involved with some very committed people, developing what we believed were some excellent programs, I can attest to the frustration in addressing these problems in isolation. For the first time, a non-governmental, national effort is being launched to force concerned and committed citizen groups to check out and evaluate professional sources to help local communities deal with the difficulties of drugs and alcohol. Part of the frustration mentioned previously appears to be an inexplicable apathy on the part of the community at large. It appears to be apathy. I choose to view previous attempts at developing awareness as perhaps having taken the wrong approach. Education and information are only a small part, though vital, in combating the insidious effects of the drug culture. We cannot learn very much until we are ready to learn. I don't believe that the communities in this area have truly been ready to believe that the problem exists, to accept that it affects them all in their daily lives and to be motivated enough to want to do something about it in a concerted effort.

Drugs and alcohol serve as an escape from very real, very personal problems. In education, we have seen students turned off to learning, turned off to life, turned off to their own future. The community and law enforcement agencies see the tragedies associated with death and injuries related to the use of these substances. All of us pay the price through our tax dollars, our fears, and our daily insecurities for the difficulties that the use of drugs place on any abusers. As a society, we should not have to fear, we should not have to be insecure over any of these things. Parents particularly of pre-teen and teenage children suffer the most from these symptoms. They are not alone nor are their fears without substantial reason.

Perhaps now is the time for all members of the community to take a serious look at the total problem and decide that an intelligent and concerned approach to the problems of drugs and alcohol use, particularly among our youth, should be attempted. Perhaps there have been enough deaths, enough cripplings, enough mind bending to make people in the community want to attack the problem of drugs and youth with all the guns available. Perhaps not.

Along with the fifteen parents who have formed a Steering Committee in the towns of Marion, Mattapoisett, and Rochester, I invite you to participate in the "Chemical People" Program to be held at Old Rochester Regional on November 2 at 7:00 p.m. If your town is not sponsoring a similar program, please feel free to attend the community meeting at Old Rochester Regional. If nothing else, watch the PBS broadcast at 8:00 on November 2. Our future as a society, as a nation, as a free people depends on our judicious protection of our natural resources. If you agree

Marion Museum of Natural History

The Marion Natural History Society will hold a meeting at the Museum on Thursday, October 27th, at 7:30 p.m. Mr. George Barden will talk on "Fossils". It will be a "hands on" talk and demonstration.

There will also be a discussion on our future Museum exhibits.

L.W.V. GIFT TO MUSEUM

The League of Women Voters presented a check to the Marion Museum of Natural History honoring and thanking Margot Foster for leading the successful Marsh Walk in Aucoot Cove on October 17th. Many naturalists from Marion and Mattapoisett shared Mrs. Foster's enthusiasm and concern for our marshes. Whereas coastal marshes provided the first settlers with rich sources of food and shellfish, their present status is often endangered by pollution and unrestricted building. Mrs. Foster advised her audience to return to the sea what is taken from it, and urged us all not to throw clam, oyster, and scallop shells in the dump, but rather to return them to the ocean where they will dissolve very gradually, thus releasing the calcium carbonate they originally extracted from the sea water to form their shells.

The speakers will present 5 year graphs projecting dollar and student ratios, and will explain terms used in the school budget. They will familiarize the public with how State aid is obtained and how it is used. Mrs. Ryan stresses the spirit of cooperation between the three towns and will try to give us an idea of what ORR's future will be.

Benefit Concert

A Christmas concert by the "Saints and Singers Chorus" will take place in the Knipe Auditorium at Fairhaven High School at 8:00 p.m. December 3rd. Proceeds will benefit the Restoration Fund of the Fairhaven High School Alumni Association.

Earlier this month, 8000 letters were sent to F.H.S. alumni, inviting contributions to the fund, according to Program Chairman David K. Sykes. All contributions entitle donors to a listing in the lavishly printed concert progam, and the deadline for listing has been extended to October 31st. Donors to the Fund will be listed according to the following schedule: Patrons, $15 or more; Benefactors, $25 or more; Silver Donors, $50 or more; Gold Donors, $100 or more. Checks, payable to the F.H.S. Alumni Association, should be sent to P.O. Box 6, Fairhaven, MA. 02719.

Response to the Association's letter appeal has been most encouraging, reports Mary Battaini, President. Funds realized from ticket sales and direct contributions to the concert program are earmarked for the renovation of the beautiful "old auditorium" named for English Department Chair Mabel Hoyle Knipe, now retired.

Spouters present Classic

"ARSENIC AND OLD LACE"

The classic murder charade "Arsenic and Old Lace" will be presented next month by the New Bedford based Spouters. The farce-comedy, written by Joseph Kesselring, is a swiftly moving piece filled with dry and satirical wit. Despite its macabre and sometimes gruesome theme, its subtle humor is guaranteed to generate laughter from the audience.

The play opened at the Fulton Theatre in New York City on January 10, 1941 and was produced by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, staged by Bretaigne Windust and had sets and costumes by Raymond Sovey. Mr. Boris Karloff created the role of Jonathan in this production.

The Spouters' rendition of this timeless play is being directed by Bentley Emery who is making his directorial debut. Mr. Emery earned an Associate Arts Degree from Bristol Community College in 1982. As a member of Spouters for the past four years, he has acted in "The Fantastiks", "The Butler Did It", "The Good Doctor", "Blithe Spirit", and "Murder in the Magnolias". His theatrical talents are evident off-stage as well as on. Ben has handled lighting assignments at Bristol Community College and is the head electrician at the Zeiterion Theatre.

Mr. Emery has cast the following people in this production: Carol Robinson as Abby Brewster, Mark Fuller as Reverend Doctor Harper, Bruce Lackey as Teddy Brewster, Will Demers as Officer Klein, Sue Richard as Of-

"Fall Frolics"

TOBEY HOSPITAL EMPLOYEES' ASSOCIATION TO PRODUCE MUSICAL VARIETY

Madeline Vasconcellis Silva, choreographer, and her staff are in rehearsal preparing to present "Fall Frolics", a musical variety on November 9th.

The cast, composed of local talent and Tobey Hospital personnel, has been in rehearsal since last August preparing for the event. Fifty people will represent the cast, and the accompanist is Richard LeBlanc of Mattapoisett, known to many for his capabilities in that role.

Members of the cast include Doctors, who have been recruited by the Committee. "The night will be diverse with singing, dancing and surprises," states Mrs. Silva.

The musical extravaganza will be held at the Town Hall Auditorium on November 9th. The doors will open at 6:30 p.m. and the opening number is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tickets for both adults and children are 3.00 per ticket, which are available at Tobey Hospital and at the door that evening. The duration of the show is two hours, packed with the past, present, and future, and promises to be an evening well worth the price and time.

Judging by past musicals and variety shows, it would be worthwhile to set the date aside and partake of the fun and music.

Girl Scout Cookie Time!

GIRL SCOUTS TO CELEBRATE 50th COOKIEVERSARY

When the Plymouth Bay Girl Scout Council begins its annual fall cookie sale on November 1, it will mark the 50th anniversary of this American tradition.

The idea for the cookie sale was born in the 1920's when individual Girl Scout troops held cookie sales as fund-raisers to support their activities. Word of the sales' success spread, and soon the number of participating troops grew. The first sale of commercially baked cookies was held 50 years ago.

That year, the Girl Scouts sold cookies based on the recipe to two Girl Scout troop leaders and baked in the shape of the Girl Scout insignia. This year, a special 50th anniversary cookie has been created to commemorate the event. It will be sold along with six other varieties.

The cookie sales are still the main fund-raiser for this organization for girls between the ages of 6 and 17. Last year, approximately 1,000 Girl Scout troops in southeastern Massachusetts earned $183,642 for their Girl Scout troop treasuries. The girls used the funds for a variety of activities which ranged from trips to Boston, Mystic, Connecticut, and Disney World. Lots of Girl Scout troops used their treasury money to go troop camping or to pay for special supplies needed for craft projects.

However, participation in the Girl Scout cookie sale is designed to provide a learning experience for girls. Girls learn to keep accurate records, how to handle money, the value of comparison shopping, how to develop good sales techniques as opposed to hard-sell techniques. One of the most important elements is that girls develop self-confidence through their contact with the public.

In addition, Girl Scouts learn how to budget the money in their troop treasury. Before they start to sell cookies, the troop plans its yearly activity calendar. Girls set their cookie sale profit goals to meet their anticipated activity expenses.

In 1982 54.3 percent of the Plymouth Bay Girl Scout Council's operating budget was derived from cookie sales, and it cost the Council $33 to provide Girl Scouting for just one girl. A few of the key services provided by the Plymouth Bay Girl Scout Council are: professional training for adult volunteers; conducting Council-wide program events for all southeastern Massachusetts Girl Scouts; producing council publications; supervising adult volunteer leadership; organizing Girl Scout troops; operating and maintaining a resident camp and six day or troop camping sites, plus a centrally located Service Center; and by providing financial aid for girls who, without assistance, would be unable to attend a camp or participate in other Wider Program Opportunities - variety of programs offered at the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. National Center West in Wyoming is an example.

So, this 50 year tradition is helping to make Girl Scouting possible for the approximately 20,000 girls and 4,000 adult

WHALING MUSEUM TO RECEIVE RARE GEMSTONE

Joel Karten, President of Karten's Jewelers, will present a sample of a rare gemstone called Royal Azel to Richard C. Kugler, Director of the Old Dartmouth Historical Society Whaling Museum in New Bedford on Monday, November 7th, at 11:00 a.m.

Karten's Jewelers selected the Whaling Museum as a recipient of this rare and precious gemstone, which is classified in the same category as the emerald and ruby, for public display.

The deposit of Royal Azel, mined from the Khalahari Desert in South Africa, represents the only quantity of the gemstone known to exist in the world. The discovery of Royal Azel has been described by the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, DC. as "...a rare occurrence...unlike anything else in the gem kingdom".

Karten's Jewelers will be displaying the world's largest uncut Royal Azel gemstone, weighing 84,000 carats and valued at millions of dollars, at its North Dartmouth Mall store on Wednesday, November 9, and Thursday, November 10.

New Alchemy Institute

New Alchemy Institute announces a new program, the New Alchemy Semester, set to begin in the spring term of 1984. The semester is a cooperative effort between the National Audubon Society Expedition Institute and the New Alchemy Institute to provide accredited, experiential education in biological agriculture and appropriate technology.

Students can concentrate their studies in the areas of organic gardening, solar greenhouse gardening, solar aquaculture, ecological land use planning, energy efficient design, tree crops/permaculture, or computer modeling. For example, solar greenhouse gardening students may be responsible for seeding and watering plants, recording harvest data and helping to set up integrated pest control experiments.

The New Alchemy Semester is an alternative to on-campus study. By taking classes and doing hands-on field work at New Alchemy Institute, students have a context for their studies that is difficult to find in the classroom. The semester emphasizes the integration of studies and the use of renewable resources to develop sustainable ecological systems.

The program is geared toward undergraduate, junior-level students. Students can receive up to 16 credits for the semester through the Lesley College/National Audubon Expedition Institute Program, or make separate arrangements with their own school. The program combines four classes with field work to give students experience in all areas of research at New Alchemy, with one area of concentration.

Applications are currently being accepted. For more information about the program, please contact Merryl Alber, New Alchemy Semester, 237 Hatchville Road, East Falmouth, MA. 02536; phone 563-2655.

that can be applied to their performance work on stage, TV, and film.

The Voice class taking place on Tuesdays, November 1 - December 13, with vocal coach Nan Butterfield will focus in giving the child techniques of breath control, posture, sound production, pitch, and sight singing. Learned techniques will be applied to the singing of songs from popular Broadway Musicals.

The Dance for the musical theatre class, held on Saturdays, November 5- December 12, with former Broadway Rockette Star Beverly Brown will present basic techniques of ballet, jazz, and tap which will then be applied to the learning of musical theatre production numbers from shows that are presently being performed at the Theatre.

The Technical theatre workshop on Tuesday and Thursday nights, November 1 - December 15, led by PBT Scenic Designer Joanna Metalavage, will present techniques and principles of lighting and set design. The students will have a chance to apply their knowledge by actually assisting in the design of lights and sets for the plays that are scheduled in the fall children's Theatre season.

The Speech class, held on Mondays, November 7 - December 19, conducted by PBT's Artist Director, will practice speech and diction exercises to correct speech problems of the child: lisps, regional accents, stuttering, poor articulation, etc. All exercises will be applied to selected monologues from children's plays.

These new workshops, slated for the new school year, were chosen out of the need of children to learn communication skills that can be readily applied to a real situation. PBT's Executive Director Anne Joelle, states, "The Theatre's new fall offerings are intended to serve the children by giving them a unique and invaluable opportunity to develop their skills and talents in the performing arts."

ART EXHIBIT

Priscilla B. Galloway will display her watercolors in the YWCA lobby during November.

Mrs. Galloway, a retired Dartmouth teacher, has been drawing and painting most of her life. Her art training began in her youth with Harry Neyland in the early days of Swain School of Design, later continuing her study at Wheaton College. She has also taken painting classes at Friends Academy, and Westport Art Group.

While she also paints in oils, acrylics and pastels, she prefers the luminous quality of watercolor.

Mrs. Galloway has exhibited at Wamsutta Club, local libraries, banks, St. Luke's Hospital, Thistle Gallery in Tiverton and at the Providence Watercolor Club.

The lobby is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Memorial Society

The Memorial Society of Greater New Bedford will hold a public meeting Tuesday, November 1st, at 7:30 p.m. at the YWCA, 66 Spring Street, New Bedford.

Ms. Elizabeth Ann Hughson, Procurement Coordinator, New England Organ Bank of Boston, will present a program, "The Gift of Life", which will give the history of transplantation, the need for organs for transplantation, what organs are currently being transplanted; who is a potential donor; finding a recipient and the costs of transplantation. The presentation is a slide-talk presentation with encouragement by the speaker for the audience to ask questions.

The New England Organ Bank was established in 1968 as a result of a collaborative effort of the 13 transplant centers in New England. It is a private, non-profit organization promoting the procurement, preservation, and equitable distribution of organs for transplantation. It works in conjunction with the New England Eye Bank, Shriners Burns Institute and the Massachusetts General Bone Bank. The meeting is open to members and guests and other interested individuals. A social hour will follow.
